The Conversation Is The Culture

Our Vibe

We keep it simple and make it practical.

We work with psychological and neuroscientific theories and concepts, but we make sure that you can use them back in the workplace. We adopt the less is more approach to enable application and avoid overwhelm.

We're not afraid to challenge and say what we mean.

You're paying us for results, which sometimes means the client isn't always right! An alternative perspective from outside your organisation can be powerful.

We practice what we preach.

We expect you to dig deep to get to the heart of the issue, rather than staying surface level. We're committed to doing the same, alongside supporting you.

We're OK with not being OK.

Being positive all the time is impossible, so we acknowledge and own our real emotions. Without a true start position, we can't move forwards.

We know judgement is inevitable.

Being mindful of our verbal language and internal narrative will make all the difference to how we respond.

We're warm, welcoming and make meaningful connections.

We're open to learn about you. We listen to hear. We're right in it with you without any preaching or assumptions made.

We love a laugh.

We appreciate the power of humour when learning, without using it as a deflection tactic.

Our 5 Pillars

CHANGE

Impacting change at an individual level to enable collective change.

PERFORMANCE

Ongoing performance management, not just when there is under-performance.

FEEDBACK

Learning how to receive feedback, to enable feedback to be given.

ALLYSHIP

Supporting and challenging the majority to be allies, so that those who are marginalised feel like they truly belong.

EMOTIONAL INTELLIGENCE

Every leader must have emotional intelligence first and foremost.

The question we are most asked: ‘How do you lead with emotional intelligence?’

By supporting and challenging your leaders to raise their self-awareness, and holding them accountable.

“The Accelerate Programme has truly been one of the most impactful leadership development experiences I’ve ever had. The Rising Vibe team masterfully creates an environment that is both deeply challenging and profoundly safe—encouraging you to go beyond surface-level thinking and explore who you are as a leader. It reignited skills I had forgotten I possessed and, more importantly, reshaped the way I think about how I show up as a leader. Through powerful insights from the team, meaningful peer connections, and honest self-reflection, I’ve grown in ways I didn’t expect. In short, it was — brilliant, bold, and beautifully human.”
